Dear Mr. Hayes:

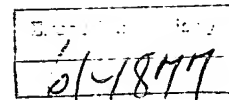

Thank you for your letter of 7 March 1961, and with it your listing of the numerous special broadcasts which the CBS Radio Network has achieved during the past year.

Your progress report is most interesting and informative, and I appreciate your calling it to my attention.

Sincerely,

March 7, 1961

Dear Mr. Dulles:

Late in 1960, the CBS Radio Network took a significant step forward in network radio programming. Because the changes were, we believe, strongly in the public interest, and also because they may well herald a trend, I thought you would want to be informed of them.

In essence, the new CBS Radio schedule (which became effective November 28) gives unprecedented importance to news, informational and public affairs programming.

First, Monday through Friday hourly news broadcasts were increased from five to ten minutes in length. This makes it possible to go beyond headline summaries, to supply the listener with detailed coverage of national and international developments. The ten-minute news format is in use, so far, in 77 news broadcasts each week.

Second, the network has introduced 19 new information programs. These total 43 individual broadcasts a week, and some representative titles are: "A Woman's Washington" with Nancy Hanschman; "The Week in Space" with Charles Von Fremd; "The Moscow Scene" with Marvin Kalb.

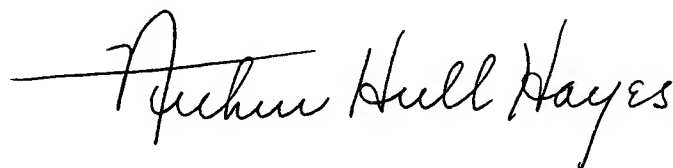

Third, the network is continuing - and expanding - one of the program functions we consider of prime importance in today's world, the instantaneous coverage of news events everywhere in the world. These, of course, are over and above our regular weekly schedule. In the general category of special broadcasts, the network presented 237 such programs during 1960. Perhaps the most notable among them was the coverage of Nikita Khrushchev's explosive three-hour press conference in Paris last May - a broadcast widely acclaimed for the light it shed on Soviet leadership and tactics. You may be interested in the attached complete listing of special broadcasts of all kinds on this network last year.

Finally, we have retained, in the new schedule, many presentations considered to be outstanding in various program categories. In news, "World News Roundup" every morning and "The World Tonight" each evening are two examples. In music, the New York Philharmonic, Cleveland Orchestra and others. In public affairs, "Capitol Cloakroom" and "The Leading Question." And light entertainment as provided by such personalities as Arthur Godfrey, Bing Crosby, Garry Moore and the like.

100-100000

I have taken the liberty of bringing to your attention this summary of our network's new program endeavors for two reasons. One is to give you an up-to-date indication of the vigorous program activity now going on at just one radio network. The other reason is to invite your comments, to ask for your ideas on how radio can improve its service to you, and to the public, in the future.

Sincerely,
